THE NAME IS EVERYTHING.

Works, Camden, N. J. 25 John Street, N. Y.

Great opportunities are presented at Berr's or securing choice selection of goods. There no dissatisfaction with the goods from ouri's greatest store after you get them to The offerings this spring are unusual.

KEENE OBJECTS TO TAXES.

Begins Legal Fight Which May Be Far-Reaching.

New York, March 20.—James R. Keene and the city of New York are engaged in an interesting legal battle which may have far-reaching effects on the question of payment of personal taxes.

Mr. Keene is to be the first man examined under the new method of supplementary proceedings. He is to be summoned to court and examined in detail as to his property.

tary proceedings. He is to be summoned to court and examined in detail as to his property.

The cornoration counsel contends that Mr. Keene owes the city $1.757 for personal taxes for 1801. Mr. Keene has informed the corporation counsel that he will not pay this tax because in that year he was a resident of Hempstead. Nassau County.

As soon as the lawyers of the department for the collection of arrears on personal property heard of Mr. Keene's deflance they served notice that if he did not pay the city would compel him to be examined in supplementary proceedings. In reply to this, lawyers representing Mr. Keene called at the office of Martin Saxe, who is at the head of this branch of the Tax Department, announcing that Mr. Keene would light out in the courts the payment of taxes.

PALMA HEARS OF WEDDING. Has Not Decided What to Do

With His Son.

With His Son.

Havana, March 20.—Beyond the receipt of a brief confirmatory dispatch, President falma has learned nothing of the marriage of his son, Jose, to Miss Mabei Jacobs in New York, on February II, last, or of the bride, except through the newspapers. The President said to-day:

"I am undecided as to what course to pursue concerning the youth, who is only 20 years old, and has two years more to remain at Columbia."

The President and his wife were shocked and disappointed when they heard the news and have not yet consulted anybody regarding the matter. Out of deference to them, the administration newspaper will not publish anything about the message until the facts have further developed.

WHITE'S NEW RESTAURANT, Broadway, between Olive and Locust. Cuisine and service perfect.

MRS. KUEHN FILES TWO SUITS.

Asks for Divorce and Custody of Child.

Child.

Donie A. Kuehn filed suit for divorce in the Circuit Court yesterday against Carle Kuehn, and began a habeas corpus proceeding to set possession of her son, Carle L. Kuehn. She is represented by Attorneys Martin & Young.

The child is with Kuehn's mother, who lives in North St. Louis, Kuehn and his wife lived with his mother prior to their separation, October 19, last. He remained with his mother and kept the child.

She charges that her husband is not a fit person to have the child. She also alleges that her husband was centented to the Penitentiary in Texas and has another wife.

SPECIALTIES.

FUNERAL FLOWERS

And designs of all kinds-wreaths, pillows, crusses, etc.; also artificial emblems. Loose cut flowers. Eden Floral Co., 1726 Olive.

DEATHS.

BARUTIO On Thursday, March 19, 1902 at 11:55 ft. m., Bernard, beloved husband of Dora Barutio (nee Petersen), at the age of 35 years. Funeral from family readence, No. 316 Russell avenue, Monday morning, at $39, to SS. Peter and Paul's Church and Cemetery. Relatives and iriends invited.

DURNIN-On Friday, March 20, 2003, at 2:30 s. m., Julia M. Durnin, openry beloved daughter of Mathew and Margaret Durnin (nee Coburn). Funeral from family residence, No. 1999 Wright Street, on Monday, March 23, at 8:20 s. m. to bacued Heart Church thence to Calvary Cemetery. Friends invited to attend.

GRAY—On March 20, 1803, at 10 o'clock a fil. N. Oscar Gray husband of Mary Johnson Gray and father of Herrick Johnson Gray.
Funeral from late residence, No. 4442 West Belie place, Sunday, March 22, at 2 p. m.

GUTGESELL On Friday, March 20, 1803, at 4.20 p. m., William Benton Gutgesell, youngest son of William and Emina Gutgesell (nee Wade), aged 1 year. Funeral on Sunday, March 22, from residence, No. 4268 Humphrey street, at 2 p. m. Relatives and friends invited to attend, HEFFERNAN-On Wednesday, March 18, 1903.

It 12:30 o'clock a. m., Kate Heffernan, resict of the late Correlius Heffernan and mother of Mamle Lyons (nee Heffernan), aged 6) years.
The funeral will take place Saturday, March 21, at 2 p. m., from family residence, No. 423
Lexington avenue to Holy Rosary Church, thence to Calvary Cemetery. Was member of St. Ann's Sociality College Church. Friends of family are invited to stiend.

KUHN-On Thursday, March 19, 1908, George Kuhn, beloved husband of Emma B. Kuhn nee Shoffer). Ameral Sunday, March 22, from family resi-nce, Maplewood, to St. Michael's Church, rewsbury Park.

LUNGSTRAS Entered into rest on Thursday, March 19, 1843, at 19:15 p. m., at his residence, No. 201 Hawthorne boulevard, Eugene Lung-strak, aged 65 years. ral will take place Saturday, March 21, MATTHEWS-On Pridar, March 29, 1803, at 129 o'clock a.m., Pauline, beloved wife of John Matthews, mother of Stephen, Henrietta, John Marguerite and Charles Matthews, and sister of Mrs. Ann A. Fash, aged 47 years.

The funeral will take place Monday, March 23, at 5:29 o'clock a.m., from family residence, No. 4607 West Belle place, to Cathedral Chapel, Charles Cathedral Chapel, West Belle place, to Cathefral Chapel, ce to Calvary Cemetery. Friends are invited McDONOUGH-On Thursday, March 13, 1993, at 4 p. m., Owen McDonough, beloved son of Mr. and Mrs. McDonough (nee Kate Vallens), at the age of 13 years 1 month and 1 day.

Funeral Sunday, March 22, from residence, No, 3000 Magnolia avenue, at 1:30 p. m., to St. Agnes's Church, thence to Calvary Cemetery.

Friends of family are invited to attend.

MAURER-Entered into rest on Saturday, March 18, 1802, Edward J. Maurer of Chicago and son of Mrs. Anna Maurer of Webster Groves, Mo., aged 23 years. Puneral from Parker Bros. funeral parlor, Webster Groves, Sunday, March 22, at 9:29 a. m., to Oak Hill Cemetery.

MORRIS Suddenly, on Friday, March 20, 1903, at 5 o'clock p. m., Walter J. beloved son of N. J. and Cheret Morris (nee Lesley), brother of Florence and Flynn Dunaway, Rillie Stiff, Mattle, Emmet and Cuba Morris, aged 18 years.

The funeral will take place Sunday, 224 inst., at 2 o'clock p. m., from family residence, No. 1818 Elitot avenue, to Zion's Cemetery. Friends are invited to attend.

Due notice of funeral will be given.

PAINTER-On Wednesday, March 18, 1803, at 1120 p. m., J. Harrison Painter, beloved huseand Ellen T. Painter (nee Finkburgh) and father Annie B. Painter (nee Finkburgh) and father Funeral will take place from residence, No. 815 Virginia avenue, at 2.20 p. m., Saturday, March II. to Carondelet Mathodist Church, thence to (new) St. Matthew's Cemetery. Friends are avited to attend.

PRESTON-Colonel Thomas L. Preston, on arch 30, 1901, at his home near the University voterina, in the ninety-first year of his age, sole of Mrs. George R. Lockwood of this etty.

BOOKS of the Week-"Under the Rose," by Frederick S. Isham, Has a Hero and Heroine Who Wear the Motley—Alfred Henry Lewis's Forthcoming Novel---"The Woman Who Toils"—Admiral Farragut in a Civil War Story---"Horses Nine"-History of Puerto Rico—News Notes and Gossip of Books and Authors --- New Books Received.

A novel, in which the hero wears the noticy must be accepted as constituting a comewhat unusual contribution to the school of historical romance so popular at the present moment. Such a novel is found in "Under the Rose." by Frederick S. Isham Bobbs - Merrill Company, Indianapolis), which is published this week. Yet, despite the fact that Mr. Isham's bero makes his bow to us in the fantastic garb of a Duke's jester, we discover that he is a very hundsome and daring personage, an effective central figure in a story of extional animation and possessing a skillful p.ot. There is a mystery which gives the book its title, and this mystery is so well handled that it is not guessed by the reader until the author is willing, wheree the story's sustained interest does not sug" in the middle, as is sometimes the epiorable case with novels of this class. Not content with a jester-hero, Mr. Isham entroduces us to a j stress-heroine, which is certainly a departure from convention. Here again we have a dramatic and attractive figure, and the exciting fortunes of jester figure, and the exciting fortunes of jester and leatness are such as to keep both before the mind's eye in an extremely colorful manner. They have for a background the brilliant and fierce days of Paris in the time of Francis, and the stage is filled with soldiers, courtiers, wits and beautiful coblewomen. Intrigue, political and sentimental, fills the air. Deep in the very heart of this intrigue moves the mysterious jester of the Duke of Friedwald, and linked with his fortunes are those of Jacquelin, the French Duke of Friedwaid, and linked with his for-tunes are those of Jacquelin, the I'rench jestress. The two excite the keenest curi-osity from the rise of the curtain on the first chapter. We follow them with unabat-ed arder until we learn all about them at the book's ending. And in the intervening space of time there is wooing and fighting and adventuring enough to satisfy the most exacting soul, intent upon swift action and dramatic incident. dramatic incident.

Mr. Isham has written a distinctly read-able novel in "Under the Hose." It is true that the field into which he has entered is anything but a new field, and that it has been overworked in recent years. Never-theless, the popular liking for the more vivid style of historical remance is seemingly insatiable, and Mr. Isham caters to that liking with much ingenuity. He possesses the story-telling gift, he works conscientiously in its employment, and the result is apt to be satisfying to his public. His latest novel more than fulfills the expectations aroused by "The Strollers, which was one of the popular successes in year or two ago.

"PEGGY O'NEAL"

This Forthcoming Novel by Alfred Henry Lewis Has Andrew Jackson for Its Hero.

Alfred Henry Lewis of Wolfville celebration has laid aside the short story long enough to write a novel. The name of this last is, "Peggy O'Neal." The story deals with the positive day of Andrew Jackson; and that great President is the hero, while Peg C'Neal-that lovely daughter of a tav-ernkeeper-who was made a "Cabinet lady." when the vigorous Jackson endowed Major Eaton, her husband, into the portfolio of war, is the heroine.
"Peggy O'Neal" as a story is warm with ove and strong with politics of that forcefor sort which fell ferth between the stark Jackson and Calhour, with his followers, over secession, mullification and State's rights. Those who have read the advance sheets declare "Peggy O'Neal" to be a masterpiece of English, and say that the interest never flags from beginning to end. When Peg O'Neal was made of the Cabinet circle Mrs. Calhoun and the leaders of capital fashion made unfaltering war upon her and Jackson, casting the White House into the scale, became Peg's champion. Van Buren of the State Pega team, took up Peg's cause, while the Russian and English Ambassadors did the same. The war which began over the social place of a girl spread to Cabinet and drawing-room, and became the cause of Calhour's resigna-tion of his Vice Presidency. It caused Jackson to dissolve his Cabinet, made Van Buren President after Jackson and smoth-ered Civil War and the secession of the tates for thirty years.

Drexel Biddle of Philadelphia, will publish the book and it should be in the book stores by May 16. It is a noteworthy fact that Mr. Biddle, who now publishes "Pergy O'Neal." which will give Jackson to the world in his noblest colors, is a great-grandson of that Nicholas Biddle with whom Jackson locked bitter horse over the United Jackson locked bitter horns over the United States Bank. It is the prophecy of ones competent to judge that "Peggy O'Neal" will be among the first six of the year's books and may even rise to proud eminence as that creat American novel for which book readers have waited so long. It will be illustrated by foremost artists, and the front plece-Peg herself-was posed for by teigning beauty, the daughter of a Governer of one of our leading States. "THE WOMAN WHO TOILS."

Depressing Pictures of Workingwom-en's Lives in American Factories. "The Woman who Tolls" is the book which called forth the Roosevelt letter of approval and congratiation to its authors, Mrs. John Van Verst and Miss Marie Van

Said the President: "I must write you a line to say how much I have appreciated your article. The Woman Who Tolls. But to me there is a most melancholy side to it, when you touch upon what is funda-mentally infinitely more important than any other question in this country—that is, the question of race suicide, complete or par-However the general render will or will not assent to the race-suicide proposition, he will surely agree that there is much of melancholy in the pictures of factory life drawn by these two young women. are trained writers who set out to discover Removing Your Coffee Troubles.

Coffee is one of the hardest things in the world to buy-speaking from the standpoint of the housewife.

The quality of most articles can be judged or tested in some manner, but it is impossible to tell anything about coffee until you prepare it and serve it. Even then it is hard to tell what is the matter with it except that it doesn't taste right, and people generally go ahead using un-satisfactory coffee because there seems to be nothing else to do. Trying something else is no guarantee of satisfaction and often proves a case of jumping from the frying pan into the fire. Wm. Schotten & Company offer the housewife a way out of this difficulty. Their new brand of coffee, Schotten's 1904 Roasted Coffee, is sold under a guarantee of high quality and uniformity. Every lot is subjected to the most rigid drinking tests before being packed and it is thus made absolutely certain that the quality, the grade and flavor remain always the same. Consequently, if you like the flavor of this coffee, you will have no more coffee troubles. You will always be sure of getting what you got before. Schotten & Company will see to

This coffee is a blended coffee made with the utmost care of the best coffees raised throughout the world.

It is packed in pound cartons and sells 25 cents, although its quality is said to be superior to that of ordinary 30-cent and 35-cent coffee.

Wm. Schotten & Company have just published a book, entitled, "Coffee Hints," which is not only an advertise-ment for this brand of coffee, but which also gives much valuable information and suggestions about this important This book is sent free upon

"Der Arme Heinrich," his new drama, adds "one more great poetic and Gramatic achievement to his already long record."

In a Pittsburg pickle factory, in a mill town of New York, among the clothing makers of Chicago, the Lynn makers of shoes, the hands of the Southern cotton mills—into these diverse surroundings the authors went to work and to live side by side with the working women; and the facts, though given from the standpoint of the more fortunate investigators who were an interesting story, a likely here and a sixty of the more fortunate investigators who were an interesting story, a likely here and a the more fortunate investigators who were an interesting story, a likable hero and a not compelled to do manual labor by necessity, are set down straitforwardly and plainly, but without the slightest touch of hysterical sentimentality or sensationalism.

Moreover, they are set down with a form times. Moreover, they are set down with a form choy. There are bright flashes of kindness, sympathetic though he is, from going too felight, of ambittion, of happiness and contentment, indeed progress, and many sparks of fine humor which bring sunshine to its pages. There are mill owners and employers who are human, there are men who will ers who are human, there are men who will "Horses Nine" will be read with hearty human nature is less a grinding force than proval by lovers of good stories. It is by actual experience the conditions of work- break all records of quantity in fictional

Mr. Brady should make this novel the turning-point in his career. He is capable of doing excellent work as a story-teller. It will be to his advantage to strive hereafter for quality rather than quantity, re-fusing to work hastily and more or less carelessly simply because there is a mar-ket for his wares. His latest book bears ev-idence that he himself recognizes this truth and is solicitous of attaining the best that is in him.

SOME NEW ANIMAL STORIES. "Horses Nine," by Sewell Ford, Will Be Enjoyed by Lovers of Horseffesh and of Good Story-Telling.

A new writer, Mr. Sewell Ford, makes his bow to the reading public this week in "Horses Nine," a volume of short stories, Horses Nine," a volume of short stories, published by the Scribners in attractive form and with excellent illustrations.

Mr. Ford's book must necessarily go into the category of animal stories, inasmuch as horses are its central figures and the human element plays only a secondary part, a sort of chorus, as it were. Yet so very human are his main character. human are his main characters-Skipp Calico, Old Sliver, Blue Blazes, Chieftain, Barnacles, Black Eagle, Bonfire and Pasha—that it seems hardly fair to charge any lack of human interest. They are horses to laugh and weep over, these of which Mr. Ford tells us, and we claim each of them for a friend when the story of their lives has been told us.

F. S. ISHAM,
Author of "Under the Rose."

and case of style which make pleasant reading.

The authors wisely refrain from indulging in too many conclusions and prognoses.

They paint the sad, drawn faces the fact that he has lost no opportunity to make acquaintance among them, regardless of degree or quaity. The Thompson-Seton knack of finding dramatic material in the field of animal set of a simple of a fact of a simple of their lives has been told us.

It is made plain that the author is an ardent lover of horses, and it would seem that he has lost no opportunity to make acquaintance among them, regardless of degree or quaity. The Thompson-Seton factor of their lives has been told us. The authors wisely refrain from indulging in too many conclusions and prognoses, knack of finding dramatic material in the Stooped shoulders and narrow chests of overworked mortals with a singular fidelity that carries an eloquence of its own, and the reader may guess as well as they what the outcome will be a generation, a century or a thousand years hence.

Yet the book is not all shade and melancholy. There are bright flashes of kindness, sympathetic though he is, from going teo choly. There are bright flashes of kindness, sympathetic though he is, from going teo

"Horses Nine" will be read with hearty pay all the wages they can afford, and bad delight by lovers of horses and with ap-stern condition. does not leave the intelligent reader hope-less and without promise for the betterment of the wage earner, but suggests rifts here treatment. Mr. Ford may be commended and there disclosing glimpses of a lighter and gladder future. Even in the more dimai pessages one cannot help feeling that the physical fatigue of the young lady au-thors, new to the environment of labor, ex-erted a too depressing influence upon their narrative. Doubleday, Page & Co.

MARIE AND MRS. JOHN VAN VORST, Joint authors of "The Woman Who Tolla."

FARRAGUT IN A NOVEL "The Southerners," by Cyrus Townsend Brady, is a Civil War Story in Which the Famous Union Admiral

Because of the fact that his literary output has been so prodigious of recent years the style and quality of Cyrus Townsend

"The Woman Who Toils" healthy book, tending, as such books do, to

HISTORY OF PUERTO RICO.

It Now Has Its First English Telling by the American Librarian of the Free Public Library at San Juan. "The History of Puerto Rico," by R. A. Van Middeldyk, now issued by the Appletons in their Expansion of the Republic series, is a thoughtful and painstaking record, especially notable as being the first English telling of the story of this island.

Mr. Van Middeldyk is Librarian of the Free Public Library in San Juan, the chief city of Puerto Rico, and has profited by a city of Puerto Rico, and has profited by Brady's work have not been the best that was possible to that writer. One cannot write a novel a month, as Mr. Brady seemed determined to do for a period, and achieve satisfactory results from the artistic point of view.

In "The Southerners," however, published this week by the Scribners, Mr. Brady has

In "The Southerners," however, published this week by the Scribners, Mr. Brady has markedly improved upon his recent self. Indeed, in considering the construction of the story, the dramatic use of material, the handling of inclient, and, in a lesser degree, of character, this is his best novel to date. It would seem that he has made a considerable endeavor to rid himself of faults acquired during his "rush" efforts to faults acquired during his "rush" efforts to

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

SCRIBNER'S for APRIL

THE TREASURY. By F. A. Vanderlip, formerly Assistant Secretary of the Treasury. This is the third of the important series of papers on "The Government of the United States," and is a most brilliant and lucid account of the country's great financial department. Mr. Vanderlip says in the opening of his article: "Astonishment at the extent and diversity of interests embraced in the Treasury Department must have been one of the first sensations of most Secretaries after taking up the duties of the office." This astonishment will be felt by all readers who follow Mr. Vanderlip's description of its vast activities and problems.

BELOW THE WATER LINE. By Benjamin Brooks. A description of the work of engineers and stokers on the ocean steamships. Mr. Brooks has been an assistant in the engine-room of one of the great Transatlantic liners, and the dangerous and exhausting work of the engineer and his duties below deck have never been pictured with such vividness. The article discloses a new talent in the field of narrative writing that cannot fail to thrill the reader. The pictures by Edwin B. Child, in colors and in black and white, were drawn by the artist from the actual scenes.

AN EXPLORER-NATURALIST IN THE ARCTIC. By Andrew J. Stone. Mr. Stone's position on the staff of the American Museum of Natural History gives him distinction and authority. His account of his experiences in camping for long periods in the Arctic regions, and his description of unusual phases of Arctic life and scenery make his article novel in explorers' literature.

JOHN FOX'S SERIAL STORY, "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come," continues with increasing interest.

F. HOPKINSON SMITH contributes a short story, "A Procession of Umbrellas." With illustrations by E. M. Ashe.

JOSEPHINE DASKAM, in "The Blue Dress," tells a story of the romantic aspirations of young boarding-school girls. Illustrations by Jessie Willcox Smith.

THE CREVICE-TREE. By Sydney Preston, author of "The Green Pigs." Illustrations by G. A. Shipley.

A NATURAL BORN PREACHER. A Story. By Nelson Lloyd. With an illustration by Howard Pyle.

TEN CO-EDUCATED GIRLS TWO HUNDRED YEARS AGO. By Mrs. H. M. Plunkett. The ten girls were the sisters of the celebrated Jonathan Edwards, and the author tells of their remarkable education.

DALNY: A FIAT-CITY. By Clarence Cary. An extraordinary incident in human history, the arbitrary making of a city by the mandate of the Czar. Fully illustrated.

POEMS by Edith Wharton and E. H. Sothern. BOOKS ABOUT NATURE. By Henry Childs Merwin. An interesting essay on nature literature.

A special cover in nine colors and gold by Ethel Wright FOR SALE EVERYWHERE. PRICE, 25 CENTS

Lady Rose's Daughter' is considered book of the year." -Chicago Evening Post. Rose's Daughter

By Mrs. Humphry Ward Author of "Eleanor" and "Robert Elsmere"

ILLUSTRATED BY CHRISTY

HARPER @ BROTHERS, NEW YORK

enment of American readers who seek to know more of our new possessions. It will know more of our new possessions. It was be found a valuable and most timely work for this reason, and the book merits popularity as satisfying a public demand for information. It is written in a pleasing style and its facts and figures seem to be reliable.

NEWS NOTES AND GOSSIP OF BOOKS AND AUTHORS.

Mr. William E. D. Scott, whose book "The Story of a Bird Lover." will be published on March 28 by the Outlook Company, is the curator of ornithology at Princeton University. A unique feature of his equip-ment for the study of bird life is his "labo-ratory" of live birds. It is composed of six coms in his own house, in which are about 500 live birds, native and foreign. The col-lection is primarily for the purpose of conducting investigations that may lead to a better understanding of birds out-of-doors and the problems which their life presents. The birds are absolutely tame and fearless and exhibit strong attachment for Mr. Scott. His book tells with absorbing interest the story of his life, of how he came to study and love birds, of the studies and investiga-tions by which he acquired his great knowledge of bird life and nature, and of hi

The present occupant of the White House seems to be laboring to deserve the title of 'Our Literary President." He has entertained Richard Harding Davis, written an introduction to "The Woman Who Tells," and allowed Owen Wister to dedicate to him "The Virginian." Now it is Miss Hallie Erminie Rives, Last

Now it is Miss Hallie Erminie Rives. Last week, dispatches state, he invited the latter to the White House and the two spent an hour animatedly discussing the fiction of the day. The President is a strenuous author himself. Possibly the tense action of Miss Rives's last story particularly recommended it to his liking. "We authors," he said at the close of the chat, "should exchange books," and sending Private Secretary Loeb for a copy of "The Strenuous Life," he autographed and presented it to the authoress. Miss Rives gave him a copy of "Hearts Courageous" in return.

New Books Received. by The Republic this week for rev "Horses Mine." Stories of Harness and Sad-dle. By Sewell Ford. Charles Scribner's Sons New York.
"The Southerners." A Story of the Civil War.

KERSALE By Justus Miles Forman, in

AUCTIONEERS.

A. A. SELKIRK & CO.,

AVCTION AND STORAGE.

Regular sale every Saturday at warehouse and eneral offices, 1808-10-12 Chouteau ave. Sales in esidences a specialty. Phone Kintoch C 167.

WESTERN SALVAGE

WRECKING AGENCY. 734 and 716 Washington ave., handlers of Fire nd Marine Salvage. Watch for special notices. SAMUEL GANS, Manager.

1808-10-12 CHOUTEAU AVE. SATURDAY SALE.

This day at 10:30 o'clock, at our warehouse, we will sail a large and varied collection of prime FURNITURE, CARPETS, STOVES, ETG.

A. A. SELKIRK & CO., Auctioneers.

AMUSEMENTS.

CENTURY.-TO-NIGHT.

200 People CHECKERS - 200 People

By Mr. Hetry M. Hlossem, Jr. Regular Matince To-Day. unday Night Next-Seats Now on Sale MR. WALKER WHITESIDE

Assisted by MISS LELIA WOLSTAN and a Company of 60 People. Sun., Mon., Thurs., Sat. RICHARD III Wed. and Fri. eves. and Sat. Mat. HAMLET Tues. Eve., Wed. Mat. MERCHANT OF VENICS "Lest We Forget" - Monday Night, March 23, BENEFIT W. D. CAVE, Treasurer Century Theater.

OLYMPIC-TG-NIGHT.

MRS. LANGTRY

And Her Entire Lendon Company, Presenting a

Modern Society Flast Fr. Mrs. Langtry

and J. Hartley Moniety,

and J. Hartley Moniety,

"THE CROSSWAYS."

NEXT MONDAY-SEATS NOW ON SALE FRANCIS WILSON

THE TOREADOR.

ALL THIS WEEK AND NEXT SUNDAY McIntyre and Heath. Nat Wills. Long and Cotton. Melani Tric. Galetti's Monkeys. O'Relley and Mignonette Kokin. Rawson and

IMPERIAL 15c, 25c, 35c, 50c. ..LITTLE CHURCH.. MATINEE TO-DAY. AROUND THE COHNER.

GRAND Matinee To-Day Night Prices, 15c, 25c, 35c, 50c, 75c.

second and Last Week of Fred. E. Wright's Beautiful Production, "YORK STATE FOLKS." HAVLIN'S The popular theatered the city; the house for ladles and children.

E-Cent Matinees Tuesday, Thurnday, Baturday, Night Prices—15c, Ec. 15c, No.—No. Higher.

Re Matinee ALASKA SEE THE GREAT TO-Day at 1 ALASKA VOLCANO SCENE Bunday Matines Next—"A Montana Quilar."

KNICKERBOCKER BURLESQUERS.

ODEON. 25 and 50c-Box Seats 75c.

Two New Illustrated Lectures
By ERNEST SETON THOMPSON.
Never Before Given in St. Louis.
SATURDAY, AT 3 AND 8 P. M.
Reserved Seats & Centis; Children S Centis.

H ZOO MANMOTH WILD BEAST COLLECTION To 10:20 p. m. Admission live 33d and Olive Streets

THE GROWTH

Of a Savings Account is something remarkable when the depositor sets out to push things. Our facilities for handling such accounts are surpassed by none.

Colonial Trust Co.

Broadway and Locust St. WILLIAM F. HOMES, H. J. DIERNEITE, Presdent.
ESTABLISHED IN 1849
MISSOURI STATE MUTUAL FIRE AND
MARINE INSURANCE COMPANY. Office, No. 717 Chestnut st., St. Louis, Ma.
Tel. Beil Main 271A. 761 Kinloch A 1521, places are written on either stock or mutual plan.
DIRECTOMS:
Henry C. Hearstick, D. B. C. Lucas, M. R. Orthwein, D. D. Walker, Augustus Nedderhut, Jas. W. Beil.
Wm. F. Homes.

By Cyrus Townsend Brady. Charles Scribner's Green. The Bobbs-Merrill Company, Indianapclis.

"Horace Greeley." By William Alexander
Linn. D. Appleton & Company, New York.

"God and Music." By John Harrington Edwards. The Baker & Taylor Co., New York.

"The History of Puerto Rico." By. R. A. Van Middeldyk. D. Appleton & Co.

"How to Become a Competent Motorman." By Virgil B. Livermore and James Williams. D.
Van Nostrand Company; $1.00.

"Reflections of Bridget McNulty." By Frank
C. Voorhies. Dickerman Publishing Company, Boston.

"If Not the Saloon-What" By James E. Freeman. The Baker & Taylor Co., New York.

From Beel & Sons: "The Story of Churches." By Charles Lemuel Thompson. The Baker & Taylor Co.
"Leavening the Nation." By Joseph B. Clark, The Baker & Taylor Co. Intimates." By Effie Bagnell.

The Baker & Taylor Co. NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

Sealed proposals addressed to the undersigned will be received at this office. Administration buildings. Lindell boulevard and Skinker road, until 12 o'clock m. on the 25th day of March, 1987, for the construction of the Horticultural Building of the Luslaiana Purchase Expesition. Plans and specifications can be had at the office mentioned.

ISAAC S. TAYLOR.
Director of Works.

